Where you have agreed, provide you with information about certain other goods and services which we believe may be of interest to you	Where we have your consent
Meet our legal and regulatory obligations	To comply with our legal obligations
Detect and prevent fraud or crime	For our legitimate interests to detect and prevent fraud or crime

3. Personal data sharing and transferring

We will not share your personal information with anyone else unless you agree to this, or such sharing is necessary to fulfil our contract with you, or we are legally allowed or required to do so. Moreover, your personal information will only be shared with selected organisations which comply with our security procedures and policies. Organisations we may share your personal information with include:

- Another member of our group of companies where they help provide or improve our services to you;
- Our service providers and subcontractors, where they help provide our services to you;
- A regulating body or other authority where we need to comply with a regulatory or legal obligation;
- Fraud prevention or debt collection organisations when required to protect our legitimate interests.

Some of those organisations may be based in a country outside the Australian area or where different information privacy laws apply. We will only transfer your personal information to that country if they ensure an adequate level of protection of your rights and freedoms, or you have given us your consent, or that organisation is contractually bound to meet Australian information protection law. We will not sell your personal information to anyone.

4. Personal and professional information protection and storage

We handle your personal information in accordance with adequate and reasonable procedures and technologies in order to maintain and protect its security, availability, confidentiality and integrity, and prevent its unlawful or unauthorised processing, accidental loss or damage, from its collection until its destruction. Where personal information is transmitted across the internet, it will be encrypted. Where we have given you (or where you have chosen) a password which enables you to access certain parts of your personal data, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential. You should not share a password with anyone.

5. Personal and professional information disposal and retention

We will only keep your personal information for as long as it is needed for the purposes for which it was collected and we will remove from our systems all personal information which is no longer required. We will only retain your personal information after this time where we are required to do so, in order to meet a regulatory or legal obligation.

6. Use of cookies

If we use cookies on our website it is in order to improve your user experience by enabling our website to 'remember' you, either for the duration of your visit (using a 'session cookie') or for repeat visits (using a 'persistent cookie'). We may also use cookies to enable us to tailor our services or products based, for example, on your location and/or browsing habits.

7. Your rights

You have the right at any time and free of charge to access your personal data in the following ways:

- Request a copy of the personal information we hold about you. We may charge a reasonable fee to provide further copies, and can refuse to give you this information if your requests are clearly unjustified or excessive.
- Have your personal information corrected if it is inaccurate or incomplete.
- Request the deletion of your personal information where it is no longer necessary for us to keep it for the purpose for which it was originally collected or processed, unless we have a legal or regulatory obligation to retain the personal information.
- Restrict further processing of your personal information. Where you have previously entered into a contracted service or product with us, this may imply cancelling the contracted service or product.
- Withdraw your agreement to direct marketing, including profiling.
- Obtain and reuse your personal information for your own purposes subject to certain conditions of portability.

8. How to contact us

To exercise any of your rights, or if you have any questions about our Privacy Policy, or if you wish to make a complaint about the use of your personal information, or want to report a security issue, please contact us: alex@onqevent.com.au

9. Other websites

Our website may contain links to other websites. This Privacy Policy only applies to our website, services and products so when you link to other websites, you should read their own privacy policies.

10. Changes to our policy

We keep our Privacy Policy under regular review and we will make any new versions available on our website. This Privacy Policy was last updated on 19/09/2019.
